

Permission to Copy Documents

Much of the documents produced by the Pharmacy Benefits Management (PBM) Strategic Healthcare Group (SHG) and the Medical Advisory Panel (MAP) are prepared by VA employees as part of their official duties. Pursuant to the U.S. Copyright Act, each of these works is a work of the U.S. Government, not protected by U.S. copyright law, and is in the public domain. Those documents or sections thereof that are in the public domain may be copied and used freely in any medium (print or electronic) without permission, license, or royalty payment. Proper credit, however, should be given to the original source.

Copyrighted material is marked in PBM SHG-MAP documents. Any further reproduction of such material is prohibited without a license or permission from the copyright owner or duly authorized licensor, unless an exemption under the Copyright Act, such as “fair use,” applies. The user is responsible for requesting permission to make reproductions, prepare derivative works, perform or display the work publicly, or distribute copies of the work to the public, and for paying any associated royalty fees.

Users may link to documents wholly in the public domain. A work may enter the public domain because the term of copyright protection has expired, been abandoned, or been dedicated to the public, or because it is a work of the U.S. Government. Copyrighted material in documents, however, require specific permission to be reproduced in any medium (print or electronic) and documents containing copyrighted material may not be linked to or copied without permission to reproduce the copyrighted material from the copyright owner or licensor. Linking to documents is preferred over copying them to a user’s Web site since documents on the PBM site are updated as new evidence becomes available. If the user copies instead of links to a document, the PBM SHG-MAP suggest that the copy date be indicated and a link to the original source be provided to facilitate checking for and accessing up-to-date documents.

The PBM SHG-MAP appreciate being notified of where and how a document or part(s) thereof are planned to be used and how the work will be modified, if applicable. Please contact the Webmaster (pbm.webmaster@med.va.gov).
